SYNOD POINTERS 1: Over the next few weeks we have been asked to print some short points from Fr Gerard McCarthy, Pastoral Outreach Centre, Aras De Brún, Newtownsmith, Galway on the Church Synod that you may find interesting and helpful.

 Surprise, delight, consternation, expectation — just some of the reactions when the Irish bishops announced their intention to hold a synodal assembly of the Irish church (The synod itself will take place within the next five years)

- The synod is a tremendous initiative in which as many people as possible are encouraged to participate. Central to the synodal process is the reality that it is time ALL OF US, THE ENTIRE PEOPLE OF GOD takes stock of where we have come from where we are now and try to
- ENTIRE PEOPLE OF GOD, takes stock of where we have come from, where we are now, and try to imagine the Irish church of the future
- Initial meetings may be held with Parish Pastoral Councils, but a deeper involvement at parish level will be necessary. It is a wonderful experience of what the synodal process is all about when we bring together our parishioners so as to listen to their hopes, worries, expectations and dreams for the future. Ideally, this should also lead to meetings with those who feel disenfranchised or disillusioned with the Church.
- The whole ethos behind the synodal process is Vatican II. The model of Church that the Council presents us with is one where participants assume co-responsibility for decisions affecting its life FROM THE BOTTOM UP. The purpose of the synodal process is the active participation of ALL THE PEOPLE OF GOD, and not just the Pope, cardinals, and bishops.
- The synod is an exciting opportunity for the Church at all levels to plan for its future under the guidance of the Spirit. God always leads us forward to a future where that same God awaits us. But we have to actively participate in the process; we have to make the journey.
- Carefully done, it can be the catalyst for renewal and reinvigoration of the Irish church at all levels

"Instead of commandments, think of them as aspiration-driven goals, going forward."

- "War doesn't decide who's right.
- War determines who's left." "The trouble with reality is that there's no background music."
- "House Guarded By Shotgun 3 Days A Week. Guess Which?"
- "Everyone is entitled to be stupid, but some abuse the privilege."

"I doubt that art needed Ruskin any more than a moving train needs one of its passengers to shove it." - Tom Stoppard.

"It's jabs for the boys!"

Mayo County Council confirmed last week that a site for the Shrule playground has been deemed suitable in the lands that were acquired last year beside the Shrule Community Sportsfield.

Well done to the Development Committee along with great help by Cllrs, Michael Burke, Damien Ryan & Patsy O'Brien for making this happen.

It is the opinion of Mayo County Council that the site located within the Shrule Community Sportsfield / GAA grounds on the Dalgan Road is the only site which is deliverable. A design is being progressed for this site. Upon completion, funding will be sought through appropriate funding streams.

In some other news, Cllr Damien Ryan has asked Mayo Co. Co. to look into creating a pedestrian crossing in Shrule village from St. Joseph's Church to St. Joseph's National School.

MORE GOOD NEWS FOR SHRULE

Councillor Patsy O'Brien has welcomed additional funding to tarmac a gravel footpath in Shrule. He said that the path, along the Dalgan road in the village, is very dangerous and needs to be tarred. He also said that by upgrading the infrastructure, more people and their families will be able to use to road to walk to the village as it will be safer. So more good news there for Shrule village. Well done all.

JUST A THOUGHT - 'BLESSED ARE THOSE WHO MOURN'

Despite the pomp that has often surrounded popes over the centuries, Francis is famous for his obvious humanity. Usually this expresses itself in warmth, though every now and then we also get a glimpse of grumpiness, as happened on New Year's Eve when Francis slapped away an overly clingy woman in St. Peter's Square.

More rarely still, we also see this pope showing another classic human emotion - grief. Ironically enough, the most recent case in point also came on New Year's Eve, although it didn't generate anything like the same publicity as the slapping incident.

On 31st December, Pope Francis attended the funeral Mass of a friend, Italian laywoman Maria Grazia Mara, nicknamed "Nella," who died at the age of 95 the day before. The pope showed up at the Church of St. Joseph on Rome's Via Nomentana at roughly 3:00 p.m. unannounced, placed some flowers on the casket, and then took a seat in the front row to the right of where the body was lying in repose.

When the celebrant was informed of the pope's presence, he sent somebody out to ask if the pope wanted to preside himself. Francis said 'No', because he simply wanted to mourn the loss of his friend. When the time came for communion, the pope simply got in line with everyone else in the church. Communion was administered to him in his row.

After the Mass ended, while the concelebrants were still in the sacristy taking their vestments off, Francis left the church without any formal greeting, the same way he arrived. He stopped to greet some of the other mourners on his way out.

And what of the woman herself, Maria Grazia Mara? She was a distinguished Church historian and professor of ancient Christian literature. She wrote books on Augustine and Erasmus. She lectured at the Augustinian Patristics Institute, just across from St. Peter's Square. Maria and Francis became acquainted with one another and at one point shortly before her death Francis paid a private and unannounced visit to her house. When asked by another friend about the difficulties of entertaining a pope, she brushed it off, saying it was "a duty of justice ... to thank him for the good he has done, and - John L. WEEKEND MASS - SCHEDULE REVIEW

Over the next number of weeks, there will be a count will be taken of numbers attending weekend Masses. Currently, there are 4 Masses celebrated at the weekend – Saturday vigils 6.30pm Glencorrib and 8pm Shrule and on Sunday 9:30am Glencorrib and 11am Shrule. It is no longer possible to ignore the low attendance at some of the Masses as well as the challenges in getting volunteers. Over the next number of weeks there will be a review if this number of Mass are any longer necessary. The primary way in which this will be explored is gauging the level of attendance at each Mass, and if there are sustainable numbers to justify scheduling Mass at that time. This would mean a Mass or Masses no longer be scheduled, with relevant Mass intentions transferred to other Masses.

for doing, the Church."

A WORD IN YOUR EAR...

On Sunday 30th October, Russia marked its annual 'Remembrance Day for the Victims of Political Repressions'. There is something wildly ironic about honouring the victims of oppression while waging a war of oppression.

However, the 30th of October has been officially observed since 1991. Established by genuine political dissidents in the 1970s, it has in more recent times been hijacked by Putin and his military henchmen for their own purposes. The dissidents, now critics of Putin, said that "current political prisoners in Russia deserve our help no less than the victims of the Soviet regime deserve respect " As r Day of Remembrance of the Victims of Political Repression the victims of the Soviet regime deserve respect." As numbers of prisoners of conscience grow in today's Russia, this distinction between various categories of prisoners becomes increasingly blurred.

Oct. 30

On October 30th the citizens assembled at various locations to honour the millions of victims of Soviet terror. Inevitably, the war in Ukraine loomed large this year. Many Russians will again fear for the welfare of their young men after President Putin's recent mobilization order. In the first four days after the announcement, some 260,000 men fled the country.

While the Soviet system was still in the process of crumbling, I visited Russia in 1990. I was accompanied by an Irish army officer who had a thorough knowledge of Russia, its history and its language. We travelled extensively over this vast country the course of three weeks. We witnessed history being made and broken! I was left with an overwhelming sense of the suffering endured by the Russian people over such a long time and on such an intense scale.

In the 13th century, the Mongols totally devastated the country, burning its major cities. Then for centuries under the Tsars the vast majority of the people were serfs, hardly better than slaves. Under Stalin, conditions became even worse with some 20 million perishing through famine, forced labour, and executions. Finally during World War II the Soviet Union lost 27 million people. But alas it was not the end, for once again ordinary people are becoming victims of a callous, murderous regime.

Every day the Christian Church prays the Lord's prayer with its lines 'They kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven'.

When we relate that to the situation in Ukraine, we pray first for the people fighting to defend their homes and families, the soldiers fighting for a just peace and the civilians longing for an end to the bombing. But we remember also the Russian soldiers, also victims in their way, going to fight ...poorly trained and badly equipped for a cause they hardly believe in. Casualties in war are notoriously difficult to estimate. The Russians admit to 6,000 soldiers killed but a more likely figure is a multiple of that. Whatever the exact number, the tragic fact is that once again so many ordinary Russians are suffering, and not just the soldiers but their bereaved families too.

Another phrase comes to mind, from the Magnificat. 'He puts forth his arm in strength and scatters the proud of heart.' I want the delusions and self-deceptions, the lies and half-truths of Russian propaganda to be shattered and scattered. Before the Divine kingdom is established in events, it has to be established in the mind, in the human imagination. - Fr. Dick Lyng OSA.
